ATEME (ISIN: FR0011992700) and the main shareholders of ANEVIA (ISIN: FR0011910652) (the "Company") together holding 87% of the share capital¹ and 90% of the theoretical voting rights² of the Company (the "Majority Shareholders"), have entered into exclusive negotiations to transfer their interest in the share capital of the Company to the benefit of ATEME. The transaction has received the prior unanimous support of the boards of directors of both parties. An "information-consultation" procedure with employee representative bodies of the Company and ATEME will be launched.

Upon completion of the abovementioned "information-consultation" procedures, ATEME would acquire all Company shares held by the Majority Shareholders (including those to be issued upon exercise of securities giving access to the Company's share capital), in part by way of contributions in kind (the "Contribution") and for the remainder, in cash (the "Acquisition"). The transfer of the Company's shares to ATEME would be followed by the filing by ATEME of a simplified alternative mandatory tender offer including a simplified mixed tender offer (the "OPM"), and as an alternative offer, a simplified tender offer (the "OPAS" and, together with the OPM, the "Offer") (the Contribution, the Acquisition and the Offer are hereinafter referred to together as the "Transaction") on all shares and securities giving access to the share capital of the Company that would not be held by ATEME at that date, in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, followed, as the case may be, by a squeeze-out (the "Squeeze-Out").³

The combination of the two companies would create a major player in video broadcasting infrastructure, with combined revenues of more than €80 million (pro forma 2019).

Michel Artières, Chairman and CEO of ATEME, says: "A merger with ANEVIA and its high-performance solutions for optimizing video flow delivery is a key step in our expansion strategy in our customers' value chain and the conquest of new markets. Both companies share the same values of respect and innovation. Based on our mission to deliver the best quality of experience, our ambition is to become the reference video solution for billions of consumers. The shared vision of the two companies and their strong culture should enable us to rapidly create significant value for our customers, employees and shareholders."

In addition, an application will be filed in the name and on behalf of ATEME with the President of the Versailles Commercial Court, for the appointment of contribution auditors who would be responsible for assessing the value of the contributions in kind in connection with the Contribution and the Offer and the fairness of the proposed exchange ratio.

In the context of the potential Offer that would be implemented following the Contribution and the Acquisition, the Company's shareholders will have the opportunity to:

- either tender their shares to the OPM in consideration of a cash payment of 20 euros and 1 new ordinary share of ATEME for 10 shares of the Company, on a principal basis, the balance of their shares (corresponding for each of them to a number lower than 10) being tendered in consideration of 3.50 euros per share of the Company;
- or to tender their shares to the OPAS in consideration of 3.50 euros per share of the Company.

Subject to obtaining the opinions of the relevant employee representative bodies of the Company and ATEME and the reports of the independent expert and the contribution auditors, the Acquisition and Contribution transactions could be completed before the end of the third quarter of 2020 and the Offer before the end of the fourth quarter of 2020.
